Today travel back in time to play the Eddie Hackett designed Old Links. Two English architects, Lawrie and Pennick, visited the course as well and gave their views on how it should be laid out and the course which emerged, perhaps took something from each of them. The Old Links undulates in the glory of its natural terrain, presenting an immensely enjoyable challenge to every golfer. Work recently undertaken by Nick Faldo has strengthened The Old Links and brought much acclaim from members and visitors. After golf check into your accommodation at Ballyliffin and indulge in International cuisine at the Linx Restaurant in Clubhouse and enjoy the Irish Craic at the bar.

Glashedy has hosted many prestigious Amateur events and played host to the 2018 Irish Professional Open. Walk in the footsteps of the games best players and be enchanted by the golfing test that awaits. Day 6 - Friday

Enjoy a round at the Paddy Merrigan designed Slieve Russell Golf Club. The natural drumlin valley landscape of West Cavan provided the course architect with a blank canvas on which to create a masterpiece. The course has been designed with a certain boldness and sureness of instinct, which has resulted in the development of a truly fine parkland course. The crucial quality of the course lies in the fact that its design is strategic rather than punitive. The intention is not to penalise the golfer who strays off the straight and narrow but to encourage attacking shots by rewarding their success and punishing failure. After golf enjoy a refreshment or two in the clubhouse before travelling to the Dublin Airport Clayton Hotel to relax and unwind after your tour.

Golf: Slieve Russell GC (Est. 1992) Par 72 Men's & Ladies
